

5 Reasons to transfer to Georgian Court University

5.

Choose Georgian Court University. Change the world. Our students feel strongly about using their education in ways that will make a difference. Whether that's contributing to academic research, volunteering, leading an organization—or however else you choose to contribute—our community makes an impact in our community and on our world every single day.

4.

Your professors not only know your name—they know you. At Georgian Court, you don't go through college alone. From conversations in the dining hall to working together on a research project, it's likely you'll see your professors as much outside of class as you do in it. Mentoring is essential here and those relationships will last a lifetime, even when you continue on to do amazing things beyond our gates!

3.

We work hard to get you prepared for what comes next. You might hear people talk about “experiential learning.” This means that Georgian Court University professors and staff help set you up with internships, research opportunities, service learning, and the chance to study abroad. At GCU, you will experience and practice what you learn in the real world.

2.

It's so easy to transfer, you'll want to know if there's a catch. Georgian Court generally accepts up to 90 credits when transferring from an accredited community college. Plus, we accept police academy credits, make special provisions for military, do block transfer if your associates degree is complete, or you could become a transfer athlete. And, there's no catch! Our transfer-friendly admissions process is seamless. It's really just that simple.

1.

We are incredibly affordable for a four-year, private university. As of today, we are waiving your application fee for this fall. Use the fee waiver code: Xfer We also have transfer scholarships! And, Georgian Court is a part of the PTK Honor Society. Apply today and you'll see just how transfer-friendly Georgian Court really is. To apply, click here.
